COMFY CAMPING WITH THE NEW BRITZ SAFARI 4WD

Go wild – literally! – and make tracks across Australia in the ultimate camping vehicle.

Britz, Australia's largest campervan rental company has unveiled the new frontier in self-drive camping holidays – the Britz Safari 4WD.

There's never been a better way to get close to nature and go camping while kicking back with some of the creature comforts of home.

The rugged V8 Landcruiser 4WD Workmate Wagon enables you to explore the open road, pull up a site and pitch a tent - while including everything you'll ever need for your camping holiday.

Setting up camp is a breeze with the Britz Safari 4WD. The vehicle comes equipped with a large (3m x 3m) ground tent, that fits up to five adults, along with self-inflating mats.

Whether you're exploring the serenity of the bush or the spectacular coastline, you'll also be taking with you a touch of home. The Britz Safari 4WD features a clip-on kitchen table and four camping stools. You'll be able to sit back and relax in the shade of the rear awning and enjoy your ice-cold tinnies from the slide-out fridge.

The Safari 4WD also boasts a 'cage' roof rack and slide-out storage drawers at the rear, ideal for storing your extra camping gear.

Britz Brand Manager, Johanna Penny, said the Britz Safari 4WD is the ultimate way to experience the fun and freedom of camping. "The Safari 4WD brings new meaning to the phrase 'happy camping'," Johanna said. "It offers the best of both worlds - you can get off the beaten track and sleep under the stars but still have all the essentials on board to be self sufficient."

The Safari 4WD is also equipped with a portable butane gas cooker, cooking utensils, crockery and cutlery, portable solar shower and a fresh water tank. The vehicle itself features air conditioning and heating in the driver's cab, power steering, baby-booster seat fittings and a radio/CD player.

The Safari 4WD is available for travel from 01 August 2008, and is only available through Britz – Australia's self-drive experts.
